INTRODUCTION

This publication is intended to be a reference and source document for those interested in banking history or in major trends in banking. The publication contains both structure and financial data on insured banks from the inception of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in 1934 to the present. Its primary goal is to provide comprehensive industry data about FDIC-insured depository institutions. A similar publication, Statistics on Banking, is published annually and provides detailed data on bank industry condition and performance during the given calendar year.

INTERNET AVAILABILITY

Historical Statistics on Banking is currently available on FDIC's web site, www.fdic.gov. See Bank Data (Historical). The internet version of these data offers the user many additional advantages, such as

- More timely receipt of data and updates
- Ability to download into standard spreadsheets
- Ability to obtain state-level tables

CONTENTS

This publication consists of several distinct components:

Volume I	Insured Commercial Banks, National Level
Volume II	Insured Savings Institutions, National Level
Volume III	Closings and Assistance Transactions

For additional information, refer to the Notes to Users at the end of each volume.

FDIC-INSURED INSTITUTIONS

Insured Commercial Banks - This category includes commercial banks insured by the FDIC through either the BIF or the SAIF. These institutions are regulated by one of the three federal commercial bank regulators (FDIC, Federal Reserve Board, or Office of the Comptroller of the Currency) and submit financial reports to the Federal Reserve (state member banks) or to the FDIC (state nonmember banks and national banks).

Insured Savings Institutions - This category includes savings institutions insured by either the BIF or the SAIF that operate under state or federal banking codes applicable to thrift institutions. These institutions are regulated by and submit financial reports to one of two federal regulators (FDIC or Office of Thrift Supervision).

Data on savings institutions that were placed in Resolution Trust Corporation conservatorship are not aggregated with data on other savings institutions, since conservatorship institutions do not operate as privately held entities and their resolution costs do not accrue to the FDIC. The RTC conservatorship institutions are listed separately as memoranda items where applicable.

EXCLUSIONS

Excluded from this publication are data on commercial banks and savings institutions that are not insured by the FDIC through either the BIF or the SAIF.

DATA SOURCES

The structure and financial data sources used in the preparation of the publication are

Annual Reports of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, 1934-2001
Statistics on Banking, 1981-2001
Assets and Liabilities, Commercial and Mutual Savings Banks,
1934-1982
Bank Operating Statistics, 1968-1982
FDIC Financial Time Series Data Base, 1984-2001

The primary sources of financial data for the publications listed above are (1) the Reports of Income and Condition submitted by FDIC-insured institutions to the federal commercial bank regulators and (2) the Thrift Financial Reports submitted by FDIC-insured savings institutions to the Office of Thrift Supervision. Structure data are based on information that is contained in the FDIC financial institution structure database and is subsequently published in the above publications.

METHODOLOGY

For this data to be as recent and accurate as possible, all data from 1984 to the present have been obtained from the FDIC's Financial Time Series database, which reflects revisions and amendments made subsequent to publication in the hard-copy sources. Data prior to 1984 have been obtained from the other four hard-copy sources listed above. When published data were used, both structure and financial values were obtained from the latest edition reflecting the data for a particular year. For example, the 1965 Annual Report was the source for much of the 1957 data that appear in this publication. Since not all data, particularly at the state level, were revised and republished in later editions of the sources, multiple sources for the same year had to be used. Using more than one source occasionally results in differences in aggregate values for the data. These differences are not considered significant with respect to the intended use and purpose of this publication.

COMPARABILITY OF DATA

Reporting requirements and instructions have changed considerably over the period covered by this publication. Where possible, adjustments have been made to account for these differences and to make the values adhere as closely as possible to current requirements and instructions. The notes accompanying the tables are an integral part of the publication and provide information on adjustments made to source data and on the reporting differences over time.

LEVEL OF CONSOLIDATION

All data from 1934 to 1973 represent a consolidation of all domestic operations and, where available, operations in what source publications designate "Other Areas." "Other Areas" are represented by Guam, Puerto Rico, U.S. Virgin Islands, and all other U.S. Territories and possessions.

With some exceptions, primarily at the state level, all financial data from 1974 to the present represent the consolidation of domestic and foreign operations, including operations in "Other Areas."

VALIDATION

Every attempt has been made to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the data contained in the publication. Any inconsistency brought the FDIC's attention will be investigated and corrected or explained in future editions.

SAVINGS INSTITUTIONSGeneral Comments

- 0 Represents a positive amount less than $500.
- (0) Represents a negative amount less than $(500).
- NA Not available or not applicable.

The category of FDIC-insured savings institutions includes all institutions insured by either the Bank Insurance Fund (BIF) or the Savings Association Insurance Fund (SAIF) that operate under state or federal banking codes applicable to thrift institutions, except for one self-liquidating institution primarily funded by the FSLIC Resolution Fund (FRF). Savings institutions that have been placed in Resolution Trust Corporation conservatorship are also excluded from these tables while in conservatorship. The institutions covered in this section are regulated by and submit financial reports to one of two Federal regulators -- the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) or the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS). Data for the savings institutions regulated by the FDIC are from the Federal Financial Institution Examination Council (FFIEC) Reports of Income and Condition submitted to the FDIC (Call Reports). Data for savings institutions regulated by the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) are from the Thrift Financial Reports (TFR).

Current reporting requirements or definitions for each column heading are stated below. Where possible, historical amounts are adjusted to reflect current reporting requirements and definitions as closely as possible. The notes below identify any significant adjustments or changes in definitions from current requirements. Certain adjustments are made to the OTS Thrift Financial Reports to provide closer conformance with the reporting and accounting requirements of the Call Reports. These notes are an integral part of this publication and provide information regarding the comparability of source data and reporting differences over time.

SI01: Number of Institutions by Regulatory Agent and Insurance FundSignificant Events

1984 - Deposit insurance for mutual savings banks (savings banks with no capital stock that accept only, with a few exceptions, savings deposits and whose earnings inure to the benefit of the depositor). These banks include those operating under special state banking codes applicable to mutual savings banks and all guaranty savings banks in New Hampshire and all insured savings banks in Massachusetts.

Deposit insurance for all savings and loan associations and all federally insured savings banks not insured by the FDIC provided by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation (FSLIC).

1989 - Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act (FIRREA) passed. FIRREA created and funded a government agency, the Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) to manage and dispose of, either through sale or liquidation, any failed savings institution transferred from OTS through September 30, 1993. FIRREA specified that any funds needed to protect the depositors of these failed savings institutions would be publicly provided until the termination of the RTC on December 31, 1996. Additionally, FIRREA specified that the FDIC would be the sole insurer of all financial institutions, and that institutions would acquire deposit insurance through either the Bank Insurance Fund (BIF) or the Savings Association Insurance Fund (SAIF) depending upon their charter. The SAIF replaced the FSLIC insurance fund. Further, FIRREA specified that any acquisition of deposits insured by a fund other than the acquiring institution's must maintain a percentage in both insurance funds equivalent to the membership percentage at the date of acquisition. Regulatory supervision continued to be provided by the FDIC and the OTS depending upon the charter of the institution.

1993-1995 - The RTC Completion Act extends the RTC's responsibility to accept failed savings institutions from OTS through July 1, 1995 and terminates the RTC on December 31, 1995. Funding for future failures of savings institutions to be borne by either the BIF or SAIF.

1996-present - The Deposit Insurance Fund Act of 1996 (DIFA) was passed at the end of the third quarter and included a one-time special assessment on institutions with SAIF insurance that cost the industry $3.5 billion. The DIFA was part of the Economic Growth and Regulatory Paper Reduction Act of 1996. This act relaxed the Qualified Thrift Lender test by increasing the amount of consumer-oriented loans, such as credit card loans, that can be counted as qualifying assets. This act also raised the allowable percentage of loans to commercial borrowers to 20 percent, where amounts in excess of 10 percent must be made up of loans to small businesses. Earlier in the year, the Small Business Job Protection Act of 1996 removed the favorable treatment for a bad debt reserve for tax purposes. This act put savings institutions on par with commercial banks for the tax treatment of bad debt reserves. Starting in 1996, the TFR was completed on a fully consolidated basis, with the exception of subsidiary depository institutions being reported on the equity method of accounting. The Call reports also use this method of consolidation. Prior to this time, the TFR reflected the consolidation of the parent thrift with all finance subsidiaries only. All other subsidiaries were reported on an equity or cost basis.

SI02: Changes in Number of Institutions

Additions During Year:

Noninsured Becoming Insured - Represents the transfer of an existing institution that does not have deposit insurance to a savings institution charter with FDIC insurance from BIF or SAIF. Examples of such institutions include Trust Banks and savings institutions with state deposit insurance that apply for and receive FDIC insurance.

Charter Transfers From Commercial Banks - Represents the transfer of a commercial bank to a savings institution charter that meets the definition of a thrift (see Notes to Table SI-1) and has applied for and received FDIC insurance (BIF or SAIF).

Deletions During Year

SI03: Number of Institutions and Offices by Charter Type

Savings institutions are permitted to obtain State charters through a state chartering authority or Federal charter through the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS). The OTS supervises all federal savings and loan charters and federal savings bank charters. The OTS acts as the primary federal regulator of state chartered savings and loans. The FDIC provides federal oversight of all state chartered savings banks. They are insured by either the Savings Association Insurance Fund (SAIF) or the Bank Insurance Fund (BIF).

The number of offices includes the head or main office of each institution as well as all branches and offices operated by each institution.

SI04: Number of Offices and Branches

Branches include all offices of institutions operating more than one office, other than the head office, at which deposits are received or checks cashed. The term "branch" includes any branch institution, branch office, branch agency, additional office or any branch or place of business located in any state, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, or Pacific Islands, at which deposits are received or checks paid or money lent. An automated teller machine, by itself, is not considered a branch.

SI05: Number of Institutions with Branches

Unit savings operate only one office at which deposits are received or other savings institution business is conducted. Institutions with branches are institutions that operate one or more offices in addition to the main or head office.

Branches include all offices of an institution other than its head office, at which deposits are received, checks paid or money lent. Facilities separate from an institution's premises, facilities at government installations, offices, agencies, paying or receiving stations, drive-in facilities and other facilities operated for limited purposes are defined as branches under the FDI Act, regardless of the fact that in certain states, including several of which prohibit the operation of branches, such limited facilities are not considered branches within the meaning of state law.

The notes to Table SI-3 may also be helpful in interpreting the data contained in this table.

FIRREA created and funded a government agency, the Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) to manage and dispose of, either through sale or liquidation, any failed savings institution transferred from OTS through September 30, 1993. FIRREA specified that any funds needed to protect the depositors of these failed savings institutions would be publicly provided until the termination of the RTC on December 31, 1996. Additionally, FIRREA specified that the FDIC would be the sole insurer of all financial institutions, and that institutions would acquire deposit insurance through either the Bank Insurance Fund (BIF) or the Savings Association Insurance Fund (SAIF) depending upon their charter. The SAIF replaced the FSLIC insurance fund. Further, FIRREA specified that any acquisition of deposits insured by a fund other than the acquiring institution's must maintain a percentage in both insurance funds equivalent to the membership percentage at the date of acquisition. Regulatory supervision continued to be provided by the FDIC and the OTS depending upon the charter of the institution.
